● ABOUT ME

Erasmus Mundus Joint Master (EMJM) scholarship holder in the Copernicus Master in Digital Earth program with a specialization in Geovisualization and Geocommunication and a background in Environmental Geosciences. Passionate about interdisciplinary sustainability research at the intersection of climate adaptation, citizen science, geospatial analysis and environmental communication to better understand environmental changes and to support inclusive, evidence-based decision making. I enjoy working in international and interdisciplinary environments and am motivated to contribute to sustainability transformations through collaborative research.
